

NCCNA Preregistration Merchandise Policy

Unique merchandise is available to those that preregister for NCCNA. This merchandise can only be ordered by preregistered convention guests. The specially designed merchandise will not be sold at the convention. If it is determined that a preregistration merchandise order has been placed by a person that has not pre-registered, that person will be contacted and given the opportunity to preregister for the event. If they cannot be reached or they refuse to register, the order will be canceled and any monies paid will be refunded less any applicable fees. Preregistration merchandise must be picked up at the convention. All sales of preregistration merchandise are final.

Preregistration merchandise not picked up during the convention will be sent to the Northern California Regional Service Office following the conclusion of the convention. The merchandise will need to be picked up by the buyer or their designee from the NCRSO in Fairfield, CA. If the person who ordered the merchandise contacts the NCRSO, the merchandise may be shipped, if requested, to the buyer after all applicable shipping and handling fees have been paid in advance. Any preregistration merchandise not picked up 180 days after the convention will become the property of the NCRSO.
